Stanley Baldwin Makes New Appeal to Italy; League to Discuss Sanctions Today

U.S. MAY CLAMP AN EMBARGO ON ALL MUNITIONS

President Roosevelt Is Ready To Issue Proclamation

By Charles P. Nutter
London, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin made a new appeal to Italy tonight and the British government pressed for a quick decision upon war guilt tomorrow at Geneva and the immediate discussion of sanctions.

Cheered by the French cabinet's firm support of Premier Laval and his backing for league action, authoritative quarters here expressed the hope the question of whether Italy is guilty or innocent of a violation of the league covenant will be decided by tomorrow night, paving the way for possible application of sanctions.

Speaking to the conservative party convention at Bournemouth, Baldwin asked Italy "even at this hour" to refrain from action which would make the league's task more difficult.

Great Britain is throwing its full force behind the cabinet in an effort for decisive league action to insure the league's retention as an instrument of peace.

Official quarters in London believe a verdict for or against Italy will hinge on what actually happened at Aduwa and are hopeful the present confusion will be cleared up sufficiently by tomorrow to permit a determination of the real facts.

Informed quarters expressed the view that unless Italy presents a better case than her allegation she was provoked and acted in self defense, her brief would be swept into the waste basket and the table cleared for a sentence to be passed against the invaders.

Although the British government was without actual facts of the military situation at Aduwa, officials were visibly surprised by the Italian declarations there are Ethiopian forts in that sector. The British government has no information bearing out the presence of these forts.

Just what position of leadership Britain would assume in proposing sanctions was not yet determined. Already guaranteed French backing, present indications are the British are prepared to advocate the strongest form of collective action possible—short of immediate military action.

This does not include an attempt to close or blockade the Red Sea as a first step. To attempt this probably would be interpreted by Italy as an act of war, which Mussolini has promised to meet with war.

Meanwhile, the American legation in Addis Ababa was seeking to insure the protection of the few remaining Americans there.

Cornelius H. Van Engert, the charge d'affaires at Addis Ababa, notified the state department today he had instructed three American women and six children of the seventh day adventist mission to leave the country immediately.

Washington, Oct. 4.—(AP)—The state department tonight set up the machinery for the first federal supervision of arms shipments but momentarily withheld the clamping of an embargo on munitions to Italy and Ethiopia.

When and if the state department decides that a "state of war" exists, probably tomorrow or Monday, President Roosevelt from his cruise on a war ship in the Pacific is ready to issue a proclamation prohibiting munitions sales to the belligerents.

Secretary Hall's announcement tonight covered rules which all manufacturers, exporters or exporters of any of the arms, munitions or implements of war already designated by President Roosevelt, must register with the state department before November 29 and secure licenses for each specific shipment.

Although the munitions control measure is of a permanent nature and has no direct connection with the Italo-Ethiopian crisis or the prospective embargo on munitions to those belligerent nations it was expected that the munitions designated for registration and license would form the basis of the president's embargo proclamation.

In the midst of state department plans for dealing with munitions, a delegation of youths representing the national council of the American youth congresses today presented a petition to R. Walton Moore, assistant secretary of state, calling for an immediate and complete financial and economic embargo against Italy because of Italian aggression in Africa.

Meanwhile, the American legation in Addis Ababa was seeking to insure the protection of the few remaining Americans there.

Cornelius H. Van Engert, the charge d'affaires at Addis Ababa, notified the state department today he had instructed three American women and six children of the seventh day adventist mission to leave the country immediately.

FARMER JURY HOLDS FATE OF NELLIE MUENCH

Deliberate Four Hours Without Reaching A Verdict

By Howard W. Fieger
Mexico, Mo., Oct. 4.—(AP)—The farmer jury which holds the fate of Mrs. Nellie Tipton Muench, erstwhile society matron and accused kidnaper, was sent to bed at 10:02 p. m. (C. S. T.) after deliberating four hours and 30 minutes.

The jurors had had the case since 4:20 p. m. and had taken an hour out for lunch. They will resume deliberations at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

Judge W. C. Hughes ordered the jurors locked up after it became apparent they could not reach a verdict tonight.

Mrs. Muench ate her dinner in the Audrain county courtroom tonight before the staring eyes of hundreds of persons who crowded in to see the woman who has made a sensational fight against conviction of the kidnapping of Dr. Isaac Dea Kelley.

The circuit court jury was given the case after defense attorneys, in a closing burst of oratory, argued it was ridiculous to suppose that a woman with Mrs. Muench's background would participate in a kidnapping.

Prosecutors contended themselves with a deliberate summation of their evidence against the matron, and stressed testimony of witnesses who said they had seen the defendant in the company of other persons either convicted or accused of the abduction.

Only five days were required to select a jury, and present prosecution and defense testimony. The trial was brought here from St. Louis on a change of venue.

The red-haired, 43-year-old defendant broke down as friends testified in her defense, was defiant on the witness stand in denying all complicity in the 1931 abduction, and wept again softly as her counsel made closing arguments. During most of the trial she was calm.

MAE KEATON IS GIVEN DIVORCE FROM COMEDIAN

Amended Complaint Is Filed Eliminating Co-respondent

Los Angeles, Oct. 4.—(AP)—After filing an amended complaint eliminating Mrs. Leah Clamptt Sewell as co-respondent, Mrs. Mae Elizabeth Keaton was granted a divorce today from Buster Keaton, frozen-faced screen comedian.

Mrs. Keaton told Judge Dudley Valentine her husband assumed a cruel and indifferent attitude toward her after July 4. She did not say what happened that day, but in her original complaint she charged Keaton and Mrs. Sewell, wife of Barton Sewell, millionaire sportsman, were found under compromising circumstances in a Santa Barbara hotel.

Keaton did not appear in court today and Judge Valentine granted the decree by default.

"He criticized everything I did and everything that happened, including keeping the car away too long when he wanted to use it," Mrs. Keaton testified.

Mrs. Keaton was awarded a beauty salon she operates in Hollywood, a paid-up insurance policy, said to be valued at $5,000, and an immediate cash payment of $300, together with $500 installments after each of the next three motion pictures Keaton makes. Mrs. Keaton was the actor's nurse before their marriage, February, 1933.

Keaton's first wife, Natalie Talmadge Keaton, sister of Norma and Constance Talmadge, actress, was represented at the hearing by her attorney, Ingle Carpenter. Carpenter said Keaton owes her $3,300 alimony.

Will Vote On Corn-Hog Plan

Washington, Oct. 4.—(AP)—A referendum for corn-hog producers to determine whether or not there will be an adjustment program next year was held today for October 26.

Secretary Wallace said there was "economic justification" for a program.

All owners and operators of farms which produced corn or hogs in 1935, whether or not they signed previous contracts, will vote yes or no on this question:

"Do you favor a corn-hog adjustment program to follow the 1935 program, which expires November 30, 1935?"

Ballots of contract signers and non-contract signers will be tabulated separately, but the AAA said if a "substantial majority" of those voting indicate that they favor a program, a new plan for 1936 will be drafted.

Wins Right To Remain In U.S.

New York, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Melvin Purvis expressed the view today that Mrs. Anna Sage won the right to remain in the United States by helping the Department of Justice and police get John Dillinger. He held her $5,000 reward was not enough.

The former Chicago head of the "G" men denied, however, that he had promised Mrs. Sage, the "woman in red," that she would not be deported.

He said that Dillinger's capture alive would have been regarded as more successful than his killing and that the "shoot to kill" order was issued for protection.

JURY DISCHARGED

Taylorville, Ill., Oct. 4.—(AP)—A jury which deliberated more than 24 hours in the trial of Raymond Tombozzi, 33, Progress mine union member, for the slaying of Frank Marlinus, 26, member of the United Miners, was discharged today.

Where Italians Struck First Blow of War

The above map shows where the Italians struck in their initial smash of the long-threatened war on Ethiopia, with Addis Ababa their first major objective, this being the scene of the disastrous Italian rout in 1896 by King Menelik's troops. Adigrat, to the east, and several nearby towns were minor objectives in the advance, as the Italians crossed the March river at several points.

Italian Onslaught From The Sky Spreads Death and Destruction in Ethiopia

MODIFICATION OF POTATO LAW WILL BE SOUGHT

AAA Will Proceed With Plans For Tax Control

Washington, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Pressed by farm delegations attending its potato control hearing, AAA sources indicated today they would proceed with plans for the tax control potato production law.

But at the same time the farm agency officials were reported to have virtually decided to seek prompt modification of the law immediately when congress convenes in January.

Whether any actual enforcement of the act would be necessary before that time was a disputed question.

In a quiet session, quite different from the stormy meeting yesterday, potato growers today continued to demand enforcement by the farm administration of the controversial tax measure, which had been opposed openly by Secretary Wallace.

There was some opposition to tax control today—some to any control. That opposition, however, largely was centered in representatives from New York and New England, who made their pleas in behalf of small growers.

It was indicated that the farm administration would push its request to the budget bureau for about $2,000,000 to set up machinery for collection of the compulsory tax until January. There was no word yet concerning availability of funds.

Italian pilots who bombed Aduwa dropped pamphlets in Amharic asserting "the Italian government will become great and those who touch it will be destroyed."

Italians captured Maibaria, the soviet announced, and it was feared Aduwa would not be able to hold out for long. Defenders of Aduwa, which was bombed for a second time, shot down an Italian plane, an Ethiopian report said.

While Aduwa was resisting, an Ethiopian force of 12,000 men was reported to be advancing north toward Agordat. Skirmishers around Mussaali were reported.

The pamphlets from the sky told Ethiopians "you have eyes but do not see. You have ears but do not hear. The Addis Ababa government, in preventing your trade with Eritrea, deprives you of a livelihood. During the last days the Italians helped you. If today you make war, they will close their frontiers and you will be reduced to destruction by hunger and illness."

(An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Addis Ababa said the last train from Addis Ababa for Djibouti, French Somaliland, will leave Oct. 8, because of the Italian advance. This would maroon hundreds of foreigners, including Americans, as it is the only rail exit from the country.)

Italian forces are fighting their way into Ethiopia from three directions, reports to Emperor Haile Selassie disclosed today.

A bloody battle in Ogaden province where the emperor announced 400 Italians and Ethiopians, 200 on each side, were killed and wounded, revealed for the first time fighting in the southeastern section.

In the northeast the fascist forces of Benito Mussolini were driving from two directions, apparently in an attempt to hem in Aduwa from the east and west.

Italian sources said they expected to take Aduwa tomorrow or the next day and that Adigrat, 2 miles away, had fallen.

Despite the impressive Italian invasion, the little "Conquering Lion of Judah" was serene in his confidence that his warriors, entrenched in mountain fastnesses to the north, would be able to hurl back the Europeans.

Preparations for defense were pushed at full speed.

A censorship will be imposed on all dispatches beginning tomorrow.

TONIGHT IS DEADLINE FOR MEMBERSHIP IN CONCERT ASSOCIATION

Tonight at nine o'clock will be the deadline in the membership drive, sponsored by the Jacksonville cooperative concert association. All desiring to take out membership must do so before that time, for there will be no single admissions.

The executive committee met Friday and is making plans for the series to be brought here this season, but final arrangements for the series cannot be made until the total membership is budgeted. There is still a great deal to be done and the captains desire all who wish membership cards to call at headquarters at the New Dunlap hotel.

Fine reports have been coming in steadily but the ultimate success depends upon the work of the teams today. The city and community are showing splendid interest and if the goal is reached, artists of the highest order will appear in Jacksonville during the winter.

GAMMA NU LITERARY SOCIETY HOLDS MEET

During the second half, Steve Bianco was elected recording secretary to replace John Taylor who was forced to give his duties because of conflict with a working schedule. On request from the house Bianco gave his own version of "Casey at the Bat."

U. S. Marshals Riding Trains To Stop Dumping of Milk by Farm Pickets Near Chicago

ITALIANS WILL PROBABLY SEIZE ADUWA SUNDAY

Mussolini's Mighty Armies Swarming In Hills

Chicago, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Armed U. S. Deputy Marshals rode the trains of the Chicago and North Western railroad through Illinois and Wisconsin dairy country tonight to fend off attacks by farm pickets in Chicago's milk "strike."

Ordered out by the federal courts after the strikers stopped several trains by piling lumber on the rails, the deputies rode cabooses and passenger cars with every shipment of milk into the city market.

Instructed to "avoid bloodshed" and "keep violence at a minimum," they were told to arrest anyone who attempted to interrupt train service or dump milk from tank or other cars.

On this picked band of 75 to 150 federal policemen, Chicago milk dealers pinned their last hopes of keeping the city and suburbs supplied with minimum milk needs without capitulating to strikers' demands for a price increase from $1.75 to $2.50 a hundredweight.

Shipment figures showed "loyal" members of the pure milk association, producers organization that opposed the strike, were turning to the rails to get their milk to market after pickets effectively stopped their trucks on the highways.

When the pickets learned this, they began stopping the trains. Because the C. and N. W. hoveycombs the rural Illinois and Wisconsin area that constitutes the Chicago milk shed, that road felt the result. At Ringwood in McHenry county late yesterday, strikers piled ties on the rails and stopped a train, only to find it was the wrong one—not carrying the milk cars they had expected. At Huntley, dump facets were opened on standing tank cars, and the milk poured on the road bed.

Other such incidents were reported to Federal Judge John P. Barnes today by Samuel H. Cady, general counsel for C. and N. W. in a petition for protection. The court had jurisdiction because the road is in process of reorganization under section 77-B of the amended federal bankruptcy law.

"Reports from Addis Ababa told of the occupation by Italians of both Maibaria and Mount Rama and the bombing of these objectives from the air."

(Emperor Haile Selassie charged these bombs killed women and children.

He also reported a battle in the southeast, in Ogaden province, with 200 casualties on each side.

Reuter's Addis Ababa correspondent said an Italian plane had been shot down near Aduwa. Exchange Telegraph reported the Ethiopian commander had reported to Addis Ababa: "Can't hold out much longer under heavy artillery bombardment."

On eastern and southern fronts, too, authoritative sources said the Italian hordes were marching.

1—Thirty thousand troops, equipped with the new "Scotty" tanks which will travel 5 miles an hour and which carry two machine guns each, massed on the border of Italian Somaliland, to the east, ready to press on into the rich province of Aussa.

2—Other forces awaiting order for a drive on Harar, focal city of the province of that name, planning to cut the Franco-Ethiopian railway from Addis Ababa to Djibouti, French Somaliland. That is Addis Ababa's only modern connection with the rest of the world.

3—Bombing planes at Assab and other strategic centers ready to load high-explosive bombs to bombard railway bridges over the Hawash river.

There were reports, too, of another concentration of Italian fighters at Walwal, where a border battle last December touched off the bitter Italo-Ethiopian quarrel.

"Very heavy casualties," Italians said, were inflicted as the terrifying tanks led an army reported to be 100,000 strong into the hills about Aduwa.

Those cavalry and infantry forces already in position held their ground firmly.

They had climbed into Ethiopia's rugged, natural defenses behind a swift flight by the "Lion's Head" air squadron in which Vittorio and Bruno Mussolini, sons of Italy's man of iron, participated. The squadron's mission, it was announced, was "brilliantly completed."

County Galleazzo Ciano, son-in-law of Il Duce, bombed the Aduwa fortifications; then flew over Adigrat, said an official version of yesterday's thrust from the air.

"There he dropped his remaining bombs upon an armed group as the fortifications directed a heavy fire at his plane," said this version. "The squadron returned to its base after completing the operations without a casualty."

FAR WESTERN REPUBLICANS HOLD MEETING

Suggest Planks For Party To Indict New Deal

Oakland, Calif., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Far western Republicans opened a "Spirit of '36" convention here today, heard a spokesman advance the governor of Kansas as a presidential possibility and prepared to suggest plans for their party and to indict the New Deal.

Former President Herber Hoover, in his first speech to members of his own party since he left the White House, will sound the keynote of the meeting tomorrow night.

Fred A. Seaton, attending in behalf of Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas, a potential G. O. P. presidential contender, said he doubted "if Roosevelt can carry the state (Kansas) regardless of who the Republican candidate may be."

"Kansas can't quite forgive Roosevelt for running on one platform and putting another in effect," he said.

"The farmers didn't like the idea of slaughtering pigs and destroying foodstuffs. They realize the necessity of financing the relief of the people, but they believe there has been vast unnecessary expenditures, that millions and millions of dollars have been utterly wasted."

Leaders said the convention, sponsored by the Young Republicans, will consider organization for the 1936 campaign, establishment of party principles, indictment of the New Deal and reorganization of the party machinery. Secretary Robert S. Craig emphasized the gathering was for discussion of issues rather than candidates.

WILL KEEP BABY

Berkley, Mich., Oct. 4.—(AP)—A midnight intruder broke into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoags and left a baby boy, a $5 bill and a feeding formula.

Cries of the infant awakened them early today. "If everything turns out all right, we'll keep the baby," said Mrs. Hoags. The Hoags have no children.

FRANKLIN YOUTHFUL TRAVELERS FOUND AT KEOKUK, IOWA

Police here were notified Friday that Evelyn Crawford, 14, and Paul Stanley Sooy, 13, of Franklin, who disappeared from their homes Thursday had been apprehended at Keokuk, Iowa. Officers there took into custody the pair of youthful travelers and last night were holding them for their parents.

The youthful pair were seen here Thursday afternoon, but a search of the city Thursday night failed to reveal their whereabouts. An appeal for their apprehension was broadcast yesterday and the two were picked up in Iowa.

It is supposed the young Franklin pair hitchhiked to the Iowa city, since the only funds the two possessed when they left home was a dime given to young Sooy by his mother, who instructed him to purchase a loaf of bread.

Mercury Drops to 27 and Gives Citizens First Taste of Winter

This community experienced its first heavy frost of the season Thursday night, and a rather severe freeze was thrown in by the weather man for good measure. The temperature reached a new low for the season, 27 degrees, which is five degrees below the freezing point.

Corn in the counties to the south is reported out of the way of killing frosts, and it is believed Morgan county corn is also out of danger. The warm weather and sunshine during September matured the crop rapidly. The freeze definitely finished any late summer flowers and gardens and put the countryside emphatically into the autumn season. After last night's frost, gold and russet will appear on the trees and leaf raking time will come on at a smart pace.

As citizens stepped forth into the world yesterday morning and got the first whiffs of the nipping air, they bethought them of winter flannels and overcoats. Summer trousers and white socks received a permanent setback for the year and firing the furnace assumed the proportions of steady employment.

Whether or not the fodder is yet in the shock, there is no longer any doubt of frost on the pumpkin, and the sooner that pumpkin finds its way into a thick luscious pie topped with a layer of whipped cream, the better we are all going to like it.

With sixteen distinct avenues of religious and social ministry to those who are in need, the Salvation Army is coming to the people of Jacksonville to seek financial support for its work for another year. C. H. Anderson, field representative from the Peoria office, who has charge of the campaign here, explained today that the Salvation Army seeks to help humanity in a practical way, while lifting men through religious influence to a higher plane.

A dinner meeting of workers in the campaign here is being called for 6 o'clock Monday evening, Oct. 7, at the Peacock Inn by Arthur G. Cody, president of the executive board, and Rev. Harry Lothian, chairman of the Appeal committee.

Mr. Anderson has supplied a list of the channels through which the Salvation Army does its work, which should be interesting to readers. The Salvation Army divided its work into sixteen major activities. They are:

Its Field or Evangelistic work—The preaching of the gospel in dictation suited to the simplest of God's creatures with the hope of immediate decision for regeneration.

Christmas Dinners—Served to poor families in need.
Fresh Air Camps—Conducted in the summer time for the benefit of poor women and children of the city.
Children's Homes where orphaned dependent and neglected children are cared for.

Missing Friends Bureau which searches for missing persons throughout the world. It has been singularly successful in locating missing husbands and wives and persuading them to return to their families.

Prison Work, Through which men and women in prison are taught to accept their punishment as just, and to re-enter the world with a desire and intention of becoming useful members of society rather than hardened criminals, dangerous to any community in which they may chance to loiter.

Slum Settlements, where temporal and spiritual help is radiated to the families of the community.
Industrial Homes where the unfit are rehabilitated through the performance of useful tasks until permanent employment can be provided.

Workmen's Hotels, which provide poor men with clean beds and clean surroundings at a nominal price, which relieves them of any stigma of pauperism.
Work Among Service Men which is extended to the present forces of the government and will remain a permanent policy toward the Army and Navy in the future.

Young Women's Boarding Homes, where girls away from home find suitable lodging and homelike surroundings at a cost within their means.
Rescue Homes where fallen women or those with a tendency to go wrong are reclaimed through Christian surroundings, kindness and teaching.
Maternity Hospitals which usually connect with Rescue Homes and where the girl who has been betrayed, receives superb attention and humane treatment.

Anti-Suicide work, which is a department of every Salvation Army Corps and has practically demonstrated its value in the reduction of self-murder through spiritual and physical encouragement to the depressed.

Free Employment Bureaus which struggle with the problem of the temporarily or chronically unemployed.

Training Colleges, where young women and men qualify themselves for officership in the Salvation Army.

Cost of Each Blind Student is $851.48 To State For Year

School Costs Per Capita Higher on Account of Specialized Course

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—A. L. Bowen, director of public welfare, today reported that during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1935, the per capita cost of inmates of state welfare institutions was $233.28, an increase of 15 per cent over the previous fiscal year.

He pointed out, however, that prices of food, clothing and other commodities in the general wholesale market increased 37 per cent during the last two years. The 1934 per capita cost was $202.68 and for the 1933 fiscal year was $236.03, higher than either of the last two.

Bowen said poor garden returns necessitated the purchase of a greater proportion of the needed food supplies in the open market than had been necessary for many years. "Careful management in all departments has been influential in keeping per capita costs low," he explained.

The report covered expenses of all kinds except permanent improvements at 27 institutions. Only an eye and ear infirmary for indigents and a research hospital were omitted from the report. These two, Bowen explained, were not included because their services did not entail maintenance of patients.

Cost at Schools Highest

The Illinois School for the Blind at Jacksonville had the highest individual per capita cost during the 1935 fiscal year, Bowen said. Specialized teachers and equipment necessary and the fact that there was a comparatively small number of students boosted the per capita expense there to $851.48. The per capita cost of the School for the Deaf, also at Jacksonville, at $621.94, was next highest.

In the penal group, the Women's Reformatory at Dwight, with a per capita cost of $449.14 had the highest, and the Menard branch of the state penitentiary, with $194.05, the lowest cost per prisoner for the 1935 year.

Prison Costs Rise

The per capita cost of all the penal group, including the Joliet-Stateville, Menard and Pontiac branches and the women's reformatory was $221.21 for the year as compared with $195.59 for the 1934 annum. The welfare department director said the high per capita figure at the women's institution was primarily because of the reformatory's small population.

For the 1935 period the mental hospitals showed a per capita cost of $214.27, as against $188.18 for the previous year. The Illinois Security Hospital at Chester, with $263.11 per

The years have brought them many honors individually. Vera Gillette has been much sought after as a solo performer in the Middle West. She won the American Society of Musicians prize contest and has recently conducted a tour of the west coast and Canada. Vincent Micari has been popular as a soloist in his home city, Chicago, and has appeared with the Chicago Symphony orchestra under the direction of Dr. Frederick Stock.

Place—Illinois College field.
Time 2 p.m.

With all of the dash of a bunch of youngsters, superinduced by the brisk weather, Illinois College's Blueboys will take on Parsons College of Fair-Field, Ia., in the first of their three home games Saturday afternoon on the local field beginning at two o'clock. The Blueboys, sluggish in their opening performance at Kalamazoo, where they dropped a 13-9 decision, have advanced rapidly during the past week and are expected to show an entirely different brand of football.

Parsons, a newcomer on the Illinois schedule, will be a tough opponent. Coach Ray Nusspuckel who saw the Wildcats perform against Western State Teachers, declares, and it is going to take a lot of good football to turn them back. Western Teachers beat Parsons by a 5-3 score, and the Leathernecks were the only team to register a victory over the Blueboys last year.

Still unable to use Abe Feduris, co-captain, because of late registration, the Blueboys will go into the game with virtually the same line-up that played at Kalamazoo. There was still some doubt about the end assignments, but Coach Nusspuckel probably will give each of the candidates for the jobs a trial. Lorenz, the all-Chicago end, and Waller, another freshman, probably will draw the starting assignments with Fred Coleman, a senior, and Pittman, West Frankfort youth, scheduled to do the relief work or possibly take over the varsity jobs.

That Nusspuckel may resort to an aerial attack in an effort to get points was shown in the final work-out, when he tapered off the training with long drills on forward passes. The Blueboy coach is not strongly in favor of a wide open game, but has some of the wide open tricks ready for use in case of emergency.

Nick Watts and Ed Hansen are the key men in the forward passing attack, with each doing the throwing. Hansen, one of the most accurate passers to come up since Tony Pacotti quit tossing for the Blueboys, probably will get a chance to do some throwing if the occasion demands. Watts, however, will be in the starting line-up in view of his capabilities as a passer, punter, and ball carrier. Watts' long suit is punting, booting the ball at times 50 yards on the fly.

Much of the ball carrying will fall on the shoulders of the other three backs, with Donat handling the ball behind the line of scrimmage, and doing a large part of the line smashing. The Johnston City sophomore also will call signals, with Russ Speuhr and Sammy Mangier doing the wing-back work. Ray Smith and Kenneth Mann, other capable ball carriers, are almost certain to get in the game.

Seeking more punch for the attack, Coach S. Robey Burns will send a revamped Tiger line-up into the game this afternoon at Decatur against St. Teresa. Unless the Tiger coach can find a game for next Friday or Saturday, the battle will end the preliminary skirmishing for the Tigers.

Hoping to get some revenge for the 7-6 defeat they took last year from the St. Teresa gridders, Burns has changed his line-up by switching an end into the backfield. Other changes were made in the line where Racykorski and Durco have been forced to give up their positions because of injuries. Still one other player, Carlson, has been stricken of the list for failure to observe the rules of the school.

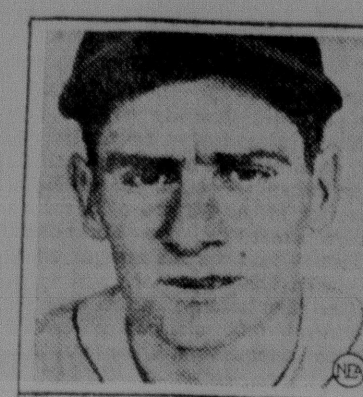

The best news Coach Burns has had all week is that Pepperdine, a 200 pounder, has been declared eligible after some cloud on his status was discovered. Pepperdine will take up his regular position at tackle. The team has been developing slowly thus far.

Wildrich, a rugged 170 pounder from Murryville, has been shifted from left end, a position which he played for two years, into the backfield, where he will do some of the kicking and passing, and put some weight in the interference. Arino, former right halfback has been moved to the left halfback with Zehnauer and Arman at full back. Baumann and Rajski will play the ends. Pepperdine and Neimeyer the tackles, Tul-Karl will be at center.

Reverses making the trip are O'Brien, Dulick, Wells, Schraeder, Oden, Clements, Huml, Torisky, Johnston, Witzack, Dietrich, Mieske and Smoak.

Two Passes Give Greenfield 6 to 0 Win Over Crimsons

Greenfield, Oct. 4.—Two passes, one of them for about 30 yards and the other for 15, coming in succession, threw Greenfield high over the Jackson high goal line here tonight and gave the fighting veteran Greenfield team a 6 to 0 victory over Jacksonville. Outgained during most of the evening, Greenfield threw back the Crimsons when they advanced into scoring territory, and during the last minutes of the game, checked a drive on the Greenfield five yard line.

Despite their defeat, the Crimsons looked more like a football team than they have in other games this year. Their blocking and tackling was much improved, but their two momentary lapses in the third quarter when Greenfield resorted to a passing attack, cost them the game. The victory was the third in a row for Greenfield, and definitely labeled them as one of the strongest teams of the district.

Cole-to-Tate twice was the story of the touchdown, Greenfield getting inside the Crimsons 40 yard line for the first time with a 30 yard pass, and then over the goal line with a 15 yard toss. Tate both times was pulled down almost in his tracks, but the second shot of the aerial drive scuttled the Crimson ship. An attempted plunge for the added point was stopped at the line of scrimmage.

Playing before one of the largest crowds in the last three years, the Crimsons shoved Greenfield around the field, but couldn't get a sustained drive until the last quarter. Once Leach appeared to get away for a marker, but a Greenfield man pulled him down. The Crimsons completed a few triple passes for good gains, but couldn't get one to work near the goal line.

The Crimsons missed a scoring chance when they were held for downs in the second quarter on the Greenfield 20 yard line, but they kept the ball in Greenfield territory most of the time, either by pushing it there, or by punt. Bob Hopper sent spiraling down the field. Twice the famous "flea flicker" the Crimsons have been using so successfully this year shook Leach loose for gains of 30 yards. The Crimsons attempted 17 passes, and completed five of them, and one was intercepted. Greenfield attempted only five passes, and completed only two—the two that led to the touchdown. Jacksonville made three punts, and recovered two of them, and Greenfield recovered both of its fumbles.

"Schoolboy" Rowe's Relief Pitching and Heavy Hitting By Bengals Brings Victory

Associated Press Sports Editor

Wrigley Field, Chicago, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Out of tempestuous blasts of wintry weather, bitter arguments and base-hits, the Detroit Tigers, instead of the home-town Cubs, emerged today as the team to beat—perhaps the team of destiny, after all—in the frost-bitten battle for baseball's world championship.

The American League champions, fighting every step of the way, survived a succession of discouraging developments to capture their second straight game behind the relief pitching of Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe in eleven innings that generated enough heated warfare to offset the biting breezes from Lake Michigan.

The final score was 6 to 5 as Marvin Owen, playing first base instead of the injured Hank Greenberg, tallied the winning run on Jo-Jo White's single off southpaw Larry French in the second extra frame.

The victory put Detroit in the lead, two games to one, and abruptly switched the betting odds as well as the pitching edge in favor of the American League pennant-winners.

With four games as the maximum left, the next two here, the Tigers now need only two triumphs to clinch their first world series in five attempts. The Cubs must win three out of four to capture the big end of the money but they are now distinctly back on their heels.

The National Leaguers went down fighting, so much so that manager Charlie Grimm and captain Ewold English were chased off the field for arguing too strenuously with umpire George Moriarty as the climax of arguments in the sixth and seventh innings. They also saw their right-handed ace, Lonnie Warneke, fail to hold the Tigers during a four-run rally in the eighth that knocked big Bill Lee out of the box.

Falling to hold off the invaders with Lee, Warneke and French, a trio of right-line flingers, the Cubs consequently are now reduced to the shock troops of the pitching corps. James (Tex) Carlton, Lanky right-hander who came from the Cardinals this year, was named tonight to start the fourth game tomorrow. In a position to gamble after taking the lead today, manager Mickey Cochrane plans to star Alvin (General) Crowder, his veteran right-hander and come back with Rowe the following day. If there's a chance to settle the series in the fifth game.

Given almost perfect interference, Mullen streaked 30 yards in the first quarter for a touchdown, and the got away for ten yards in the second quarter, and another touchdown. Menees chalked up the point after the first touchdown on a plunge.

Virginia missed a couple chances to score in the second half. The Redskins used a revamped line-up for the game.

On top of this, the Tigers were quickly put on the defensive as Lee, the freshman right-hander of the Cubs, outpitched Elden Auker, the submarine left right-hander, and gained a 3 to 0 lead. The first Bengal thrust was stopped short, with one run home, as Pete Fox was trapped and tagged out off third base in the sixth inning, precipitating an argument that resulted in the banishment of Del Baker from the third base coaching line.

The Tigers were still two runs behind, going into the eighth, but they came roaring back with a four-run attack to take the lead, only to have the Cubs rally in the ninth to tie the score with a fusillade of basehits off the delivery of Rowe. It looked like taps for the Schoolboy in the home half of the tenth when Freddy Lindstrom led off with a double to the bleacher screen in deep right-center but Rowe tightened up, retired the eleven batters after the weaker half of side, and then throttled the Cubs in the Tiger batting order produced the winning run.

Billy Rogell led off the winning rally with a single to left. He was cut down at second when Lindstrom scooped up Owen's attempted sacrifice and fired the ball to Stan Hack at second for a force play. Clifton then grounded sharply to Lindstrom, who failed to anticipate a bad hop and was charged with an error that proved the final "break" of the game.

Rowe, fanned, swinging, but White, with the count two and two, picked off French's next pitch and drove it on a line to center, scoring Owen and sending Clifton to third. Cochrane's foul fly ended the inning.

The Cubs roared yelled for another come-back, but the lower end of the batting order, including replacements which helped tie the score in the ninth, was unable to come through again. Hack grounded out and Rowe bore down, with a final flourish, to strike out Chuck Klein and Walter Stephenson, pinch-hitting for French.

The game repeatedly rose to high pitched argument and excitement as well as batting heights. Led by Grimm, the Cubs swarmed out of their dugout in the sixth to protest Moriarty's decision in calling out Phil Cavarretta on an attempted steal of second. The Chicago manager was put out of the park for making his comment too heated, but this didn't quiet the home bench. It kept "riding" Moriarty, an American League pitcher with the result that he went over to the dugout at the end of the seventh and also non-combatant, to the showers.

At the time the Cubs were in the lead and apparently riding high, behind the pitching of Lee, who held the Tigers to five hits in the first seven innings and looked to be on his way to victory in his first world series start. The home team jumped off in front on Frank Demaree's home run into the right-field bleachers, in the second, with another single coming in on Stan Hack's single, steal of second, Clifton's error on a roller by Jurgens and Lee's infield out. A pass to Jurgens, followed by Lee's sacrifice and Auker's hit to right, produced the third Cub run.

Goose Goslin's single, his first in the series and also the first of three straight for the day, was followed by Pete Fox's triple to the right-field corner in the sixth. With one out, it looked like a big Tiger rally. But Gabby Hartnett's snap throw to Hack caught Fox napping and Rogell struck out to end the inning.

The Detroit "G-men," however, weren't through for the day. Minus big Greenberg's home run bat, they kept swinging and finally drove Lee to cover in the eighth with a blast reminiscent of the attack they delivered in the first inning of yesterday's game. This time White drew a pass, to start the inning. Cochrane popped out, but Gehring doubled to right and Goslin smashed a single to the same spot, tying the score.

This was enough for Lee. Putting their biggest stakes right on the table, the Cubs called Warneke, shut out hero of the first game, from the bullpen. The crowd roared mightily as long Lonnie strode to the box, confident that the right-handed ace would halt the Tigers in their tracks until the home team could put on another rally. It looked like good strategy, in fact, until Fox batted a base hit to left and Rogell followed with a drive to center, scoring Goslin with the run that put the Tigers in the lead for the first time.

With Fox on third and Rogell on first, the Cubs then went into a defensive tangle. As Rogell broke for second, White, Owen at bat, Hartnett fired the ball to second. Rogell was trapped, but during the run-down maneuvers, Fox lit out for the plate. He was half-way home before Cavarretta, in the act of tagging out Rogell, discovered what was going on and, over his shoulder, threw the ball to the plate. His throw was wide and Fox scored the fifth Tiger run easily. Owen then popped out to Cavarretta but the Cubs were now back on their heels.

Rowe retired the Cubs in order in the home half of the eighth, picking up the job where Auker and Southpaw Elden Hogsett, who twirled the seventh, had left off. He looked to be secure as he retired Cavarretta on a long fly at the start of the ninth, but the Cubs' re-inforcements all but escaped with a tied score.

Hack punched a single to right. Klein, one-time National League batting king, pinch-hit for Jurgens and did the same thing, sending Hack to second. Jimmy O'Dea, substitute catcher and another southpaw hitter, batted for Warneke and lashed a basehit to right scoring Hack, and sending Klein to third. With the Tiger infield playing in, Galan took a tooth and smashed a long fly to center. White made the catch easily, but there was no chance to halt Klein's dash for the plate with the tying run. Herman ended the inning by grounding out.

The Tigers threatened in their half of the tenth when Goslin got his third straight hit, a double to right, with two out, but Fox popped out. Lindstrom's double in the home half of the tenth was the last scoring opportunity for the home side.

With Goslin and Rogell, who also got three hits, leading the attack, Detroit outbit the Cubs 12 to 10 and dispelled the notion that the Cubs possess so big an advantage in their home park. Today's setback was the first time Chicago had been locked on its home grounds within a month. The Cubs started their 21-win winning streak here and have the reputation of being the best home team in the National League. They missed the big bat of Hartnett, who went hitless today in five turns at bat. Gabby hit into a double play in the first inning, after Galan and Lindstrom and hit safely. His only contribution was a 10th inning sacrifice, sending Lindstrom to third, but Demaree and Cavarretta failed in this pinch spot.

PRESSHog Prices Are
10 To 15 Higher

Chicago, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Light supply offset buyers' resistance in the hog market today and prices rebounded rather sharply, advancing mostly 10 to 15 cents although in spots they were 25 cents higher than yesterday.

The trade had only 4,500 head of hogs, and 3,000 of these came direct. Buyers showed reluctance in entering the market at higher levels early in the day but in the squeeze that forced small killers and shippers to pay the improved prices light lights again fared best.

The top was $11.15, the bulk of desirable kinds going at $10.85 to $11.05. Buying in the closing rounds was avid and a complete clearance was effected for the first time within the memory of yards traders, only a few stragglers left aggregating less than 100 hogs remaining unsold.

The cattle trade was a quiet clean-up affair with prices practically unchanged in all divisions. Slight weakness developed on heavier grades of feeding steers. Yearling steers weighing 400 lb. set the day's peak figure at $11.65.

Lambs were boosted to the best levels attained this week as most fat offerings moved up 25 cents. Small operators paid $9.35 an cwt. on most crosses the scales at $9.00 to $9.25.

Stock Traders

Are Cautious

By Frank MacMillen
New York, Oct. 4.—(AP)—The share market took another breasting spell from acute war fears today but traders moved cautiously in quiet dealings.

With the exception of Rail Stocks, which suffered from another fit of nervousness over the financial condition of some of the weaker carriers, most groups moved ahead readily during the day, until unevenness cropped out in the final hour.

Copper and other non-ferrous mining issues, aircraft shares and a few other specialties made the best progress.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks finished 2 of a point higher at 48.1, while the 15 Rails used in the compilation were down 3 of a point. In the stock exchange, 1,427,340 shares changed hands.

Export copper prices continued to firm, reaching 8.85 cents a pound. Many of the metal shares advanced rapidly from around 1 to 3 points each including Anaconda, Cerro de Pasco, Kennecott, American Smelting, Howe Sound, Magna, U. S. Smelting, International Nickel and St. Joe Lead.

Several of the so-called war stocks acquired an active following at rising prices. Boeing was up nearly 3 points at one time and ended ahead 1 1/2. While Douglas and Electric Boat finished the better part of a point higher. Dividend news provided ammunition for the bull forces. Briggs manufacturing, just at the close of trading, declared an extra payment of 50 cents, and an extra of 25 cents was announced earlier by American Chicle.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JEAN DUNN, pretty 21-year-old secretary and BOBBY WALLACE, young automobile salesman, spend an evening at The Golden Feather night club.

ART LANNING, the proprietor, introduces SANDY HARKINS to them. Sandy explains he is in Dover on business, he and Jean dance. When he asks if he can telephone her she evades.

Later LARRY GLENN, friend of Jean's father, John Glenn and Bobby, Glenn is a lawyer, now engaged in government work. Bobby and Jean are both delighted to see him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER III

AT that moment, "this Harkins guy" was sitting at a table on the far side of the room talking earnestly with two men. One of them was Art Lanning; the other was a small, black-haired man who sat slouched over his glass and kept darting quick, alert glances about the room.

"I'm telling you, that's all," said Lanning. "Never mind where I found out. She comes from a small town downstate, and her father is president of the local bank."

The black-haired man looked sideways at Harkins and grinned. "Can you hear opportunity when it comes knocking?" he asked.

Sandy Harkins grinned back at him. "Don't rush me," he said. "I only just met her. She's kind of a neat little number, at that."

He let his gaze wander across the room to the table where Jean Dunn was sitting with Bobby Wallace and Larry Glenn.

"Who's the guy with her?" asked the black-haired man suddenly.

"Boy friend," said Sandy.

"No, not him—I mean the older one."

Sandy looked at Larry Glenn. "Never saw him before," he said. "He wasn't there when I went over."

The other man took a longer look. "I don't like his looks," he said unexpectedly.

"What's the matter with him?" asked Sandy.

"I don't know. He just looks kind of like trouble, that's all. Know who he is, Art?"

The proprietor of the night club shook his head.

"He's a new one on me."

The black-haired man turned away and shrugged his shoulders. "Well," he said, "I don't like his looks."

"Forget it," said Sandy. He turned to Lanning. "What's this girl doing in Dover?" he asked.

"She's a stenographer, or something," replied Lanning. "Works for Donald Montague, the lawyer."

The other two men raised their eyebrows and looked at one another for a moment.

"Did you say something about opportunity?" asked Sandy, grinning. Lanning looked puzzled and asked, "What about it?"

"Well," said the black-haired man, "we might want to do a little business with this Montague some day, that's all. And if this dame—"

He looked again at Harkins. "I guess you've got an assignment, Sandy," he concluded.

ALL unconscious of the fact that she was flaring so extensively

Bobby chuckled. "Jean wanted to go slumming," he said. "She wanted to see life in the raw."

In this mysterious conversation, Jean Dunn rested her chin in her hands and looked fondly at Larry Glenn.

"So that's the way of it," he said. "Well, now you're here, what do you think of it?"

"To be honest with you, it's much—oh, much quieter than I thought it would be," she confessed.

"Quiet?" said Larry. "When that orchestra is playing you can't hear yourself think."

"She means people are behaving themselves too well," suggested Bobby.

"Oh," said Larry. He gazed thoughtfully at the little glass vase in the center of the table, in which reposed one rather discouraged looking rose. "Now listen, you two children—you don't mind getting a bit of advice from your elders?"

They shook their heads expectantly.

"Well," he said, speaking slowly as if he were choosing his words carefully, "maybe it'd be a good idea for the two of you to be just a little bit careful about frequenting places of this kind too often. Night clubs are funny places. Some of them are perfectly all right, and some of them—aren't. You want to go a little slow."

"But this one—why, it's as respectable as a hotel dining room, as far as I can see," Jean objected.

"I know, I know. I don't mean that you're apt to get into a brawl here, or anything like that. But sometimes some rather peculiar things go on under the surface."

The eyes of the two young people were wide with excitement, and Bobby leaned forward and asked, "How do you mean?"

"Oh—" he paused, and took out a cigarette. "You never know just who you're rubbing elbows with. The man at the next table may be a perfectly respectable business man, or he may be a gunman who's wanted for murder in half a dozen different cities. You have no way of knowing."

Bobby and Jean glanced automatically at the next table, where sat a bald, well-dressed man who could not possibly, under any scheme of things, have been any one but a tired business man out on the prowl.

"Oh, I didn't mean him," Larry said.

Bobby walked to the door with the two young people, patted them fondly on their shoulders and saw them into a taxicab. As the car rolled away, he stood in the entrance for a moment, looking after it with thoughtful eyes, and the firm line of his mouth was troubled.

Then he shrugged his shoulders and walked back into the night club.

CHAPTER II

AS Bobby pushed his chair back, they realized that two men had come up to their table. One of them was Art Lanning, the proprietor of the Golden Feather night club. He wore a dinner jacket and had dazzlingly sleek black hair brushed back from a pale forehead and he seemed just a little bit too affable and suave to be entirely reliable; but then, Jean told herself, he must be all right, for hadn't her own boss introduced him to her?

Lanning's companion, she realized with a little startled thrill, was the good-looking young man who had been so noticeably watching her from his table on the other side of the room. He was tall, and broad-shouldered, and although he wore his tuxedo as if he were used to it, he seemed to have an out doors air about him, as if he belonged on the western plains somewhere instead of in this stuffy overcrowded night club. Perhaps it was his hair that did it. It was sandy, and it refused to lie down in the well-trained manner of Lanning's; instead, a long forelock drooped down over his forehead, making him look like a cowboy who had got used to the city but who, nevertheless, intended to go back to the range some day.

Lanning was smiling his stereotyped smile—the smile of a man who is everybody's friend but who watches all the angles, just the same. He put his hands on the table and leaned his big bulk over them.

"You don't mind if I introduce an old friend of mine, do you?" he said. "This is Sandy Harkins—Sandy from the hair and Harkins from the family. Sandy, this charming young lady is Miss Jean Dunn, and the lucky man with her is Bobby Wallace."

Bobby got up and stuck out his hand. Harkins extended a large, well-man

T. E. Musselman Is Vivid Speaker At High School Friday

Tells Story Dramatizing the Disastrous Effects of Carbon-monoxide

Telling an entertaining story, but teaching the practical lessons of the deadly effects of carbon monoxide gas, T. E. Musselman, Quincy bird specialist and naturalist, captivated students of the Jacksonville High school in an address yesterday morning. He was presented by Miss Jane Dunlap, president of the Junior class, whose members sponsored the program.

The story began in the Negro quarter of St. Louis some eighty years ago. At that time the colored population dwelt along the river. When one of the leaders of the village died the people sought a burying ground, and found a stretch of pasture rising to the foot of a cliff just four miles down the bottom road. But white things appearing among the trees on the hillside frightened the Negroes.

They found one man who would be the sexton and built him a shack, but he was too frightened to remain on duty until a raise in salary and a hound dog were held out to him. But on Nov. 18 the old man died in the shack, and it was the rumor that "ghosts" had come down and fetched him away and never bring him back.

In 1906 the place was bought by a wealthy man named McCarthy, who built a country home. On the night of Nov. 16 he and his wife and their two servants died mysteriously in the house and the place again lapsed to vacancy.

Finally in 1920, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Deal occupied the place, and on Nov. 16, the time for starting furnace fires in the St. Louis community, two servants in the house died. Deal and his wife were overcome, but were saved by the timely arrival of doctors. Car-
